Gypsy—reunited with her family.

It's Kitten Season at FOC!

Kitten season is in full swing, and FOC is once again filled with adorable young cats waiting for new homes. Stimulation from kennel workers and volunteers, who play with and acclimate them to human handling, helps ensure that the kittens are socialized and ready for their new families. The great deal of care they receive while in our care goes a long way to help shape loving and playful little personalities who exhibit great affection and a sense of security with their people. Come visit with them today!

Finding Gypsy

In May, Friends of Cats received an e-mail from No Boundaries Animal Rescue in Santa Rosa, California, regarding a cat that had been found in a lumber pile outside a local Home Depot. The cat's microchip—identifying her as "Siah"—was registered to a New Hampshire resident, although the registration was out of date. The Rescue had conducted an extensive search that successfully located Siah's original owner, who had moved to San Diego about ten years ago, but she had relinquished Siah to Friends of Cats around the same time. No Boundaries wanted to know if Friends of Cats had any records for Siah's subsequent adoption a decade prior. The biggest piece of the puzzle was finding out why she was found over 400 miles north of San Diego.

FOC Shelter Director Janet Bianchini was able to find adoption records and the name of the family that adopted the cat in San Diego in 2004, but they had dropped off the radar some time ago. FOC also offered to take Siah back if pickup could be arranged.

Meanwhile, No Boundaries advertised Siah for adoption on its website. It was contacted almost immediately by the Diaz family, who had adopted her in San Diego before making several cross-country moves over the years, finally settling in Santa Rosa. They were overjoyed to find her—now called "Gypsy"—and said that she had disappeared several months before, likely through an open window. She was a much-loved family member, and they had all been very upset over her loss. Their fifteen-year-old son was particularly depressed, and his father carried Gypsy's photo on his cellphone as a daily reminder. They were mystified as to how she had ended up over five miles away from their home, thin and dirty, but were delighted to get her back. Gypsy, who was 3 pounds lighter than she had been when she disappeared, was reunited with her family roughly a week after Friends of Cats was initially contacted.

This success story likely could not have happened without two key contributing factors. First is that the cat had a microchip—a valuable tool in identifying and locating lost pets, the benefit of which cannot be overstated. The second is the cooperation and teamwork between animal welfare agencies in different regions, working together across the miles to search records and databases. The result was the relatively speedy and joyful reunion of Gypsy with her owners, and Friends of Cats is delighted that one of its own has found her way back home.

Our Mission Statement

To maintain a Shelter for homeless and unwanted cats with the goal of placing all healthy cats into loving, adoptive homes while providing a sanctuary for cats that are terminally ill, considered unadoptable, or whose owners have prearranged for their continued lifetime care. In a nurturing, rehabilitative environment, we ensure the health of all cats entrusted to our care, promote spaying and neutering, and resort to euthanasia only as a matter of compassion for cats whose terminal illness causes suffering.

Then and Now: A Look Back at FOC's History

In the photo below, at left, cats snooze in the humble surroundings afforded them by the Maude Erwin Foundation for Cats—the organization which eventually became Friends of Cats in 1968. The Foundation's shelter was located for over ten years in Chula Vista, where this photo was taken in 1955. Operating on a shoestring, and without heat or electricity, the buildings were rickety and shabby, and very cold in winter, but Mrs. Erwin lived on the premises with several other caretakers, and was devoted to the cats' care. The cats didn't mind the lack of creature comforts; despite the plywood sleeping shelves and simple dirt floor, they were given all they needed: food, love, and the chance of finding a permanent home.

The Maude Erwin Foundation for Cats, 1955

A flood forced the Shelter from its Chula Vista location in 1965, and after an anxious period of uncertain survival, in 1966 it was able to purchase a small plot of land in the Flynn Springs area of Lakeside, where Friends of Cats continues to operate.

Today, our nearly 300 feline residents enjoy a much more comfortable, nurturing, and stimulating environment than their predecessors did nearly sixty years ago, thanks to the loving care of our staff and our dedicated volunteers—as well as your generous donations, which enable us to continue the Shelter's 85-year legacy, and the work that was so dear to Maude Erwin's heart.

See What's New at Friends of Cats on Facebook

Keep up with what's happening at Friends of Cats by following us on Facebook. We post regularly post information about the shelter, upcoming events, fun pictures, and contests.

In May, we had a naming contest for several new resident kittens that would soon be up for adoption. There were so many fabulous names, but we decided on "Athena," "Selene," and "Nike" for these small cuties, submitted by Linnea Peltola.

An additional set of three kittens were named by Dale Devore. His choices were "Gladys," "Knight," and "Pips."

Congratulations to both winners, each of whom received a one-year membership to Friends of Cats.

Scenes From CINCO de MEOW

Cinco de Meow, Friends of Cats' annual Mexican-themed May fest, brought many visitors to the Shelter—both long-time supporters and many new faces eager to learn more about us and to see our cats. As a kickoff to our Phase 3 renovation, guests were asked to sign our Donor Wall (see photos/details on pages 6-7), resulting in some memorable and heartfelt comments and many creative efforts. Poncho's delicious Mexican fare was back by popular demand, and Coe Lewis once again kept things running smoothly as the day's emcee, overseeing the raffle drawing with her usual flair. We'd like to thank all who donated raffle items, as well as those who participated in any way to make the day a big success—including the eight adopters who took home new feline family members.

SHELTER RENOVATION UPDATE: The Donor Wall

Phase 3 of Friends of Cats' renovation is in the early stages, and is planned for the Adoption area, which will create an open and inviting central space that will help facilitate the adoption process. With an estimated cost of $30,000, we have a long way to go to reach our goal. Please consider helping us achieve this objective by making a donation towards this effort.

As part of the renovation fundraising effort, the wall along the main hallway has been designated as an enlarged canvas for donors to the campaign. For a modest donation, anyone can add his or her comments, best wishes and/or kitty-related artwork. If you would like to leave your mark as part of the kitty art wall, please consider making a donation and adding your thoughts or artistic flourishes.

Eventually, the wall will be replaced with new material and a pass-through Dutch doorway to the office area. However, we will photograph the best of the wall art/messages with the idea of staging a photographic display. Therefore, your art and/or message for the cats can be preserved. Plan a visit to the shelter any day except Monday to make a donation and leave your mark on the donor wall.

ADOPTABLE CATS: Meet Clorox

One of FOC's sweetest and most gentle adoptable cats, Clorox made quite an impression on young Colton Henty. In an effort to help Clorox find his forever home, Colton wrote this lovely profile of one of his favorite shelter cats.

Cats have always been seen as fierce predators, regarded for their elegant look and ability. But they have another side. It's playful, fun, cuddly, and loving.

At Friends of Cats there are many cats, but one is a particular "sweetie." Clorox has an unusual name, but he is one of the nicest cats at the shelter. Regardless of who you are, he'll meow at you for attention, and wait for you to notice him. If you don't, he will come and sit in your lap anyway and look at you with big kitty eyes, and begin purring with happiness. Scratch him behind the ears, but not on the chin. He loves to play with feathers. I have personally always thought of him as a calm, caring, and understanding cat.

"Come and adopt me!"

Because he is deaf, always come up in front of him where he can see you. Clorox does not want to be in a home with small children, but he would be happy with older children. Clorox is a senior cat, so adoption fees would be greatly discounted.

—Colton Henty, age 11

Keeping Your Cat Safe In an Emergency

Recent wildfire activity throughout San Diego reminds us that disaster can strike anywhere at any time. The safety of your pet family depends on careful preparation and planning. Here are some tips to help you keep your cats safe in an emergency.

- Don't leave home without your cats! If you must evacuate, take them with you. Cats left behind are not safe, and can escape or be injured, lost, or killed. Find safe places ahead of time and identify shelter alternatives that will work for both you and your cats. Develop a "buddy" system with neighbors, friends, and relatives to make sure someone is available to care for or evacuate your cats.

- Identify your cats with collars and tags and/or microchips. Pack a pet survival kit that includes photos, vet records, microchip information, and a list of contacts.

- Pack a two-week supply of pet necessities. Rotate supplies at least once every three months. Evacuation supplies should include the following:

- Food—Buy pop-up canned food that can be served in one feeding. Store dry food in airtight containers, and include a plastic feeding dish and spoons.

- Water—Store in plastic containers and include a water bowl.

- Sanitation—Each cat needs a small litter box, together with litter, scoop, and plastic bags for waste. Disposable litter boxes can be bought with litter included. Keep a small soap container and paper towels for cleanup. Newspapers can be used for litter waste and in feeding areas.

- Medications—Place long-term medications in an ice chest if refrigeration is required.

- Carrier—One ready-to-go carrier for each cat is best. Label carrier(s) with your contact information, including the name and phone number of your veterinarian.

- Bedding—Use towels or blankets (good for scoop-up of a frightened cat!)

For more information about pet disaster preparedness, contact the The Humane Society of the United States, ASPCA, or www.Petfinder.com. These organizations have detailed instructions on their websites. Remember, leaving a cat at home alone can place your animal in great danger. Pets are part of your family and depend on you for safety. Evacuate early—and take your cats with you!

Letters to Friends

CAT TALES welcomes letters and photos from readers. Because of limited space, we can publish only a representative selection, some of which may be edited or condensed.

7 years ago this week we brought home the cutest little kitty. She started out as Bunny but grew very quickly into her new name.... Godiva. Thank you Friend's of Cats for 7 years and counting

Our beautiful and beloved cat, Ashley, passed away on Tuesday. She was 19, and her health took a sudden turn for the worse. We adopted Ashley from Friends of Cats in January of 1996, having recently relinquished a stray with FELV to your loving care. She was the sweetest, most loving animal I have ever known—she was both my "child" and my friend. She had a special relationship with each member of our family, and we all adored her.

Ashley helped me get through the stress of a cross-country move. She was by my side when I was recovering from illness. She stayed by me when I lost my mother and the grief was raw. Ashley slept on our bed every night. She greeted us every time we entered a room. She enchanted caregivers, vets, and friends. She had the prettiest face, and a sweet voice. She faced the disabilities associated with old age with her usual good-natured acceptance. I cannot even guess how many times I would kiss her in a given day. When we were away on vacation, I yearned for her. Our devoted caregiver came three times a day, because Ashley needed human contact.

I am still overwhelmed by grief. I volunteer with the Rhode Island SPCA, and I know I find myself heading over there more frequently than ever, in order to hug a cat. They do the same beautiful work as you.

Thank you for bringing Ashley to us, and for all the work that you do. If we should retire back to San Diego, Friends of Cats will be one of our first stops.

—Erica and Mike McKeown

In honor of our two cats that passed away in March and May of 2012, we decided to adopt two cats from your shelter. We had a difficult time selecting the cats because our hearts were really not into it. We finally selected a black cat named Ninja, and tabby Clyde because he seemed friendly. We were told at the time of adoption that Clyde also had a sister. Unfortunately, Ninja did not work out for us and we had to return her two days later. We then took Clyde's sister, Bonnie, home with us.

Bonnie and Clyde are happy, healthy, affectionate, and spoiled indoor cats. They love looking outdoors at the birds, lizards, and other critters we have in Alpine. We have a second home we travel to frequently, and both cats travel well and love the ride, once we can get them into the car.

Bonnie and Clyde have brought so much joy back into our lives after the loss of our two beloved cats of 16 years.

We were told that Bonnie and Clyde's previous owner was an elderly woman who had to move into a rest home. If you have any contact with her, please let her know that they are doing well.

Thank you for all that you do.

—Mary and Thomas Neff
